"Yet notwithstanding this, minority groups of one kind or another, and or ganizations, sometimes almost nationwide in their ramifications, are making the most determined assaults upon the public treasury. I am advised by the director of the bureau of the budget that careful computation ciscloses that there are bills pending that are seriously pressed for passage, not including the bonus, which would increase the expenditures of the feleral government for next year by about $3,600,000,000. This would mean that outside of the postoffice department, which is practically self-sustaining, the present rate of expenditure would be more than doubled.

"Each one of these items taken by itself is not large, and its supporters argue that certainly the government can afford to make this small additional payment. But taken in the aggregate they make the stupendous sum I have mentioned, and their assumption by the government would mean nothing less than financis I disaster to the nation.

Looking Under the Bushel for Advertising Light

MERICAN business men often say they don't see much difference in acvertising agencies.

It isn't always easy to find the leaders in any profession. Or what may be still more important, the coming men, the rut-busters.

A good advertising man is twice as hard to locate as any other kind of specialist.

He is anonymous. Outside of a few friends and his family and his clients his name is strange. He turns his back on his own personality in order to give more to the institution he works for. He has no time nor energy to make publicity for himself.

Today there is a quiet development going on. It is worth watching. It doesn't mean that a lot of famous advertising men are going to spring up over night. It doesn't mean that advertisers will have some new dazzling personalities to choose from.

But it does mean within the next five years American advertisers are going to become acquainted with another and better type of agency relationship.

Here and there among agencies you will find men who see the day at hand when advertising shall come into a professional rating. When it shall kick off all the old garments. Abandon outworn formulas. Discover and apply new principles. Build up a selective commercial practice, instead of just a string of accounts.

Right now, this may sound like a

Yet the handful of men above-mentioned are doing decidedly specific things about it.

They have their cudgels out for the superficial.

They are intolerant of lazy thinking and skimped responsibility.

They are drawing a bead on the blatant, the crude, the false.

These men are no novices. As a rule they are holding down some of the biggest advertising jobs in the country. They are work-bench men who don't get rattled by red figures; who know what to expect from salesmen-and what not to expect; who don't think that advertising can cure everything and who give due credit to the client for having some vision and commonsense, too.

They are taking great care in selecting their clients, because it is the opportunities for positive and unquestioned contribution which is foremost in their minds.

They are looking for the people and the problem that permits them to do a good job.

They come prepared to help if they can-and to go away if they can't.

Men like these are a greater influence on the future of advertising than most of us imagine offhand.

By hammering away at a practical ideal they will cause to appear in this country at least three or four agencies of the highest professional standards.

The service of these agencies will be the most sought after, perhaps, of any of many different kinds of services now at the disposal of American business and business men.

Maybe they won't be the biggest advertising agencies. Probably not.

But they will be the dominant agencies serving those manufacturers who would naturally desire the professional character in their advertising relations.

The important difference between advertising agencies lies for the most part in the amount of commercial imagination each one has.

THE PROOF AT LAST!

Well-known scientist states that Coffee is a safe and desirable beverage for overwhelming majority of adults

DROFESSOR SAMUEL C. PRESCOTT, Director of the Department of Biology and Public Health at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, has just completed a three years' Scientific Coffee Research.

The results of this investigation are especially inveresting because various suggestive inferences regarding the wholesomeness of Coffee have been circulated for years and have been allowed to go unchallenged simply because no thorough scientific investigation of Coffee had ever been made.

It's different now, because the three years' research has established, by definite scientific method, the fact that Coffee is a safe and desirable beverage for the overwhelming majority of adults. Here's what Professor Prescott says-

"I will say that neither in the dispassionate study of the vast literature on the subject, much of which is medical literature, nor as a result of our long-continued studies, have we been forced, as scientific men, to any conviction that wellmade Coffee is harmful to the great mass of consumers and, as such, dangerous to public health and welfare. On the contrary, the more deeply we have gone into this matter, the more we have read, the more we have looked up this literature in different languages, the more firmly fixed has become the belief (in fact, I might say it is a belief so strong that it is a conviction) that for the overwhelming majority of adults Coffee is a safe and desirable beverage."

· Here is the truth! And coming from such an unquestioned authority, it adds scientific corroboration to the public's own judgment, as expressed by the ever-increasing popularity of Coffee, The Universal Drink.

Get a Line on the "Cravenette" Process The Process That Keeps In the Lines

HAT'S still another great advantage of the celebrated "Cravenette" Process-it keeps in the lines for keeps. It not only lengthens the life of the garment by resisting showers; it also preserves the style.

It protects both the woolens and the workmanship against the weather. It turns your topcoat into two topcoats-one for when it rains and one for when it doesn't. Thereby conserving your cash.

Of course, even a "Cravenette"-Processed garment must be pressed occasionally, but the point we want to make is that it will keep its shape longer without pressing than it would without "Cravenette"-Processing.

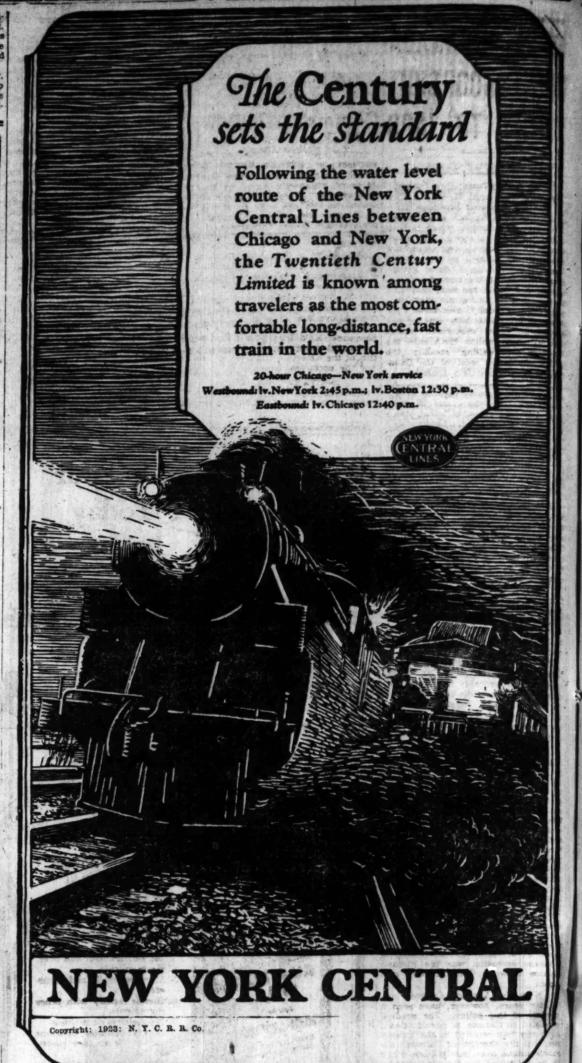

Ask for the "Cravenette" Process-and see that you get it. The woven label or the "Cravenette" circle stamped on the reverse side of the cloth—is your guide to the genuine.

Gravenette Grocess, The weather proofing process that makes a good fabric better

What Cravenette Is:

The "Cravenette" Process is a showerproofing process, applied to the best of fabrics only. It is applied to any brand or make of topcoat and certain lines only of hats, caps, boys' clothes and umbrellas. It resists rain and thereby retains the garment's shape and reduces the need for pressing; preserves good appearance, and assures longer satisfactory wear. The word "Cravenette" is the registered trademark name of the Cravenette Co. U. S. A. Unless garments or fabrics carry the "Cravenette" mark it is unlawful for anyone to offer them for sale as genuinely "Cravenette"-processed. Cravenette Company U. S. A., 381 Fourth Ave., New York.

The Greatest Motor Fuel of All

Since the earliest days of the automobile industry, engineers have known that it would be possible to get greater power and economy from the use of petroleum fuels in internal combustion engines were it not for a very objectionable knock developing in the motor when efforts were made to obtain such increased efficiency.

For years this problem has been studied in the great General Motors Research Laboratories and now success has crowned their efforts and Ethyl Red Crown Gasoline is offered to the motorists of America.

This new fuel possesses many advantages among which are these-

> It eliminates fuel knocks—and the waste of fuel and lack of power and the harmful effects of carbon that these knocks indicate.

> It makes for smoother and more powerful motor operation.

It insures quicker acceleration.

It makes for greater economy.

It actually improves the condition of the motor.

Standard Ethyl Gas is the greatest boon to motorists since the invention of the self-starter. It's the greatest motor fuel that has ever been offered to you.

> Drive to a Standard Oil service station today. Simply ask the service station attendant for Ethyl Red Crown Gasoline.

ANSWER.—You can't be too careful sound that in said that in dark, damp places the distemper germ will sometimes live for two years. First, scrub the kennel thoroughly with hot water. Then let the sun dry it and follow it with a spraying of a powerful germicide. Many kennel owners use a teaspoon of crossol to a quart of water sprayed from a cheap galavanized iron sprayer, which produces a fine mist on all the surface sprayed. After a week of airing in the sun's rays, as sunight is a germ killer, give it another spraying if you want to play absolutely safe.

Mr. Lubin's book shows pretty plainly that the coal industry differs from most in the fact that it is dominated from the labor side, as was pointed out in the labor side in the labo

"Any machine mining rate which al-ows for more than this, the miners assist, may not only prove prejudicial to the income of the machine miner as comthe income of the macline miner as compared with the pick m ner, but may also put the owner of a machine mine in a more advantageous position than the owner of a pick mire. "The tendency, in other words, is to give the machine miner a higher rate than he might other wise receive and thus enhance the cost of producing machine mined coal. The operator may use machinery or he may not, just as he sees fit, but if he does, his rate for machine workers is so fixed as to make it impossible for him to undersoil his competiossible for him to undersell his compet or who does not use machinery."

In one hundred years-1800 to 1900-the people of the United States used fifty billion postage stamps.

In ten years-1911 to 1921-the American people used one hundred and twenty-two billion.

Two and one-half times as many stamps-in one-tenth the time. This increase is out of all proportion to the growth of the country in area and population.

The average man or woman has not grown more fond of writing. But many more are able, and all are willing, to read.

Distance and lack of opportunity prevent thousands who could use your goods from hearing about them-or seeing them. But no distance is too great to prevent them reading about and looking at pictures of what you make or sell, things that they need and must buy somewhere.

And you have never had a better opportunity than you have right now to tell these possible customers, through good printing, how well you can serve them.

The enormous increase in the number of stamps used shows unmistakably how up-to-date manufacturers and merchants are using the mails to broaden their markets and increase their sales.

If you are not already using this great power for greater profit, you would do well to call in your printer and ask him how good printing and the postal service can help you win new customersand sell more to those already on your books.

becribe for The Tribun

to sell Radio Products
Chicago Tribune advertising will broadcast your message to the greatest Zone Market on earth!

R ADIO is new.
But selling is still selling.

Because the product is different—because of the many new concerns in the business—radio merchandising has fairly boiled with freak stunts, novelties, wasted efforts.

Yet selling radio sets and equipment is, from the fundamental merchandising standpoint, no different from selling talking machines or tooth pastes or automobiles.

The parallel with automobile marketing, indeed, is very close. Save only that radio, in three years or less, has had to meet nearly all the changes in merchandising conditions which for motor cars have been spread over fifteen or twenty years.

When the dust and confusion of this pioneering period settles, it will be found that the great majority of radio companies of today have fallen by the wayside. The survivors will be those who have followed the sound policies and methods established by other lines of business in manufacturing, in finance, in selling.

That Chicago Tribune advertising sells radio products in the same decisive way in which it moves hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of other merchandise every year, is definitely proved by the success of radio advertisers in The Tribune. Three of the latest of these letters are reproduced on this page.

"Almost as Many Returns from The Chicago Tribune As from all the Other Seven Mediums Used"

In a four months' campaign in eight metropolitan cities of the middle west, conducted by the Holtzer-Cabot Electric Company, of Boston and Chicago, the reof Boston and Chicago, the replies produced by The Chicago Tribune "were more than double those received from any other medium, and were almost equal in number to the total number of replies received from all the seven other mediums added together."

The Tribune's influence on retailers of radio equipment was strikingly demonstrated in the experience of the C. S. Tay Sales Company, exclusive Chicago jobbers. Using relatively small space in The Tribune, six insertions "brought unprecedented results—188 letters from dealers outside Chicago—30 new dealer accounts opened—and several thousand dollars' worth of merchandise sold to them on the initial orders."

Young, Lorish & Randall, exclusive distributors for Kennedy radio sets in Chicago and The Chicago Territory, find Tribune advertising immediately effective in opening new retail accounts. "A great many new dealers have been added to our list," says Mr. E. H. Young, President of the company. "A check of our sales for the last three weeks shows a remarkable increase over any similar period."

For the Radio Instruments Company of Chicago, The Tribune "produced more inquiries and more sales per dollar than any other of the 22 newspapers used." One small advertisement made 126 sales of parts for the $12.50 single-tube set featured. The response on the higher-priced five-tube Cockaday set was equally gratifying. The Tribune also produced a remarkable number of dealer inquiries as well as individual orders."

Buying Power and Broadcasting Stations Create This Great Radio Market

Small wonder that The Chicago Tribune should prove so productive for its radio advertisers, since it supplies an easy and trusted approach to the largest and most responsive group of radio users and prospects in the world.

Not only is Chicago the most important center of distribution for radio equipment in the United States. Its broadcasting stations include two of the most powerful in existence. The pioneer Westinghouse KYW, for one, and The Tribune's own W-G-N, which, with its initial program March 30, broke all previous records for distance broadcasting, registering at many points in Australia and at Hobart, Tasmania, 8,640 miles away, more than a third of the distance around the earth.

In the Chicago Territory—Zone 7, comprising the five rich states of Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, and Wisconsin—or immediately on its borders, there are ninety other broadcasting stations. Every Tribune reader is surrounded by influences making him a prospective buyer of a radio set and accessories.

"Six insertions in The Tribune

Outside Chicago, in these five states, there are 501 cities of more than 1,000 population, and 562 smaller towns, 1,064 communities in all, in which The Sunday Tribune reaches one family in five; in many of these towns it reaches four-fifths of all the families.

Families, too, with real buying power. Although Zone 7 covers only 8.7% of the country's area, it includes 17.2% of all the people. They own 20% of the national wealth; they pay more income taxes and drive more automobiles than any other similar zone group in the United States. They have money, make money, and know how to spend it.

That The Chicago Tribune knows how to sell to the Chicago Territory is evident from the fact that it has built up the largest revenues earned by any newspaper in the world.

The Tribune's Merchandising Service Can Show You How to Secure and Develop Dealer Connections

Not only does The Tribune know how to sell circulation and advertising. Through contact with successful manufacturers and merchants, it has learned the best methods for selling a multitude of other products as well. And has proved its ability again and again to show how these methods can be applied by its advertisers to secure dealer distribution and create adequate consumer demand for their products.

With the radio industry rapidly getting down to hard-pan in making and selling—with the market approaching the point of stabilization—competition is forcing manufacturer, jobber and dealer to adopt the merchandising methods which have proved successful in older industries that have passed through the same stages from overwhelming demand to canny buyer knowledge of products and their values.

Right here the advertising and merchandising service of The Chicago Tribune offers definite and specific assistance to manufacturers and jobbers who are introducing new specialties or developing broader demand for products already accepted.

It does not sell goods for manufacturers or jobbers. But it does furnish advice and definite systematic plans for covering and capturing the Chicago Territory. Phone or write for a Tribune man to call and talk over your marketing problem with you. In a business developing as rapidly as radio, your neglected opportunity of today may prove to be some competitor's ten-strike tomorrow.

3 Tests for Bond Buyers

E XPERIENCED investors have come to judge the investment value of bonds on these three tests:

1. Trend to Manurity. Will money rates tend to work higher or lower as the bond approaches maturity? Should you buy long term or short term securities?

2. Future of Industry. How will changes in the "business weather" affect the industry represented. Will its position be stronger or weaker under coming conditions?

3. Comparative Condition of Issuing Concern. Are comparative conditions such as earnings, funded debt, fixed charges, etc., as favorable as those offered by other corporations within the industry?

It is the business of Babson's Reports to supply the facts on fundamental business and financial condifacts on fundamental business and financial condi-tions that the investor may anticipate trends and profit accordingly. In addition, the Supplement on Bonds analyzes the investment market in detail and makes unbiased and specific recommendation of bonds selected on these three points. The pro-rata cost of this service is small indeed.

WARNING

Commonwealth Edison Company

NEWSPAPER advertisement, first appearing yesterday morning (Tuesday, April 22), offers so-called Bankers Shares in the United American Electric Companies. The advertisement states that the shares represent stock in ten companies, including the Commonwealth Edison Company.

The Commonwealth Edison Company wishes to warn investors:

- 1. That it has not authorized the use of its name in the advertised plan.
- 2. That the Commonwealth Edison Company is not in any way interested in the plan.

It is the apparent purpose of the advertised plan to collect shares of stock of corporations and issue securities against them. This, in so far as it involves the Commonwealth Edison Company, should not appeal to any one familiar with the history and policy of the Company.

The Commonwealth Edison Company has always sought to place its stock as issued with its own stockholders and customers. The advantage of this policy, both to the Company and to its Stockholders, is beyond question.

The company believes that it is to the advantage of any investor, who wishes to become interested in the stock of the Commonwealth Edison Company, to buy the stock upon the market, receive dividends directly from the Company and become entitled to receive the right to subscribe at par for a proportionate part of new stock that may from time to time be issued.

The stock of the Commonwealth Edison Company has the added advantage of being, in the hands of its stockholders, free from state taxation in Illinois.

Price 97½ and Interest, Yielding About 6.18 Per Cent

The Alabama Public Service Commission has approved the issuance of these bonds. The company agrees to pay interest without deduction for normal Federal Income Tax up to 2%.

The following statements are taken from official sources:

The Birmingham Electric Company does practically the entire electric, gas and street railway business in the cities of Birmingham and Bessemer, Alabama, and either the electric or both the electric and street railway business in eleven adjacent communities. The operation of the property is supervised by the Electric Bond and Share Company.

The "Birmingham District" is one of the most important iron and steel manufacturing centers in the country and the most important industrial center in the South. Nowhere else in the world, so far as is known, do the essential elements for the manufacture of iron and steel exist in such close proximity and abundance.

As officially reported for the twelve months ended March 31, 1924, gross earnings were $7,408,669; net earnings, $2,396,710 or over 2.7 times the annual interest of $872,400 on the total funded debt, including the same of the last funded funded for the last funded funded. ing this issue.
